W. B. KENYON LAW IS SUSTAINED BY SUPREME COURT

Most Sweeping of All Decisions Upholding Prohibitory Statutes

STOP SHIPMENTS TO DRY STATES

Measure Was Once Voted by President Taft and Repealed by Congress Over His Veto

Washington, Jan. 8.—The supreme court yesterday, in the most sweeping of all decisions upholding prohibitory laws, upheld an act of congress which forbids the shipment of liquor from "wet" to "dry" states. It also sustained West Virginia's recent amendment to her law prohibiting importation of liquor from other states.

After having been vetoed by President Taft, who held it unconstitutional, and having been re-passed by Congress over his veto, the law was sustained by the supreme court by a vote of seven to two. Leaders of the prohibition movement declare it is to their right second only in importance to the proposed constitutional amendment.

Chief Justice White announced the majority opinion, in which Justices Brandeis and McReynolds concurred. Justice McReynolds, while agreeing with the majority decision, did not concur in the opinion. An official digest of the majority opinion prepared by the court, sets out its holdings as follows:

"1. The restraining power of government over liquor is settled. There was no question of Congress to forbid the individual use of liquor. The purpose of this act was to cut out by the states the practice of permitting violation of state liquor laws. We can have no doubt that Congress has complete authority to prevent parading of state authority. Congress exerted its power to coordinate the national with the state authority.

"The court holds that in view of the substantial authority of the state over liquor, there is no reason to think that this law, in any wise, is in violation of the due process clause of the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States. It, however, decided that unless the state authority has an exception applicable to shipments of interstate commerce as the result of the act of Congress known as the Webb-Kenyon law, the provisions of the state law forbidding shipments of intoxicants into the state from other states would be unconstitutional because interfering with the power of Congress to regulate commerce among the states, and consequently would be a direct burden upon such commerce.

"2. Considering the Webb-Kenyon act, the court holds that there is no question for the contention that the act only applies to shipments from one state into another for a use prohibited by the state to which the liquor is shipped. On the contrary, it is decided that the Webb-Kenyon act, in view of the words of the act, applies to shipments of liquor intended to be received, possessed, sold or in any manner used in violation of the laws of the state. As this conclusion removes every prohibition of the Webb-Kenyon law to be embraced and

JURY FINDS SMALL IS DESERVING OF DEATH

Verdict of "Guilty with Capital Punishment" Returned

RE-ASSERTS HIS INNOCENCE

Former Boston Broker Convicted of Murdering Wife to Obtain $20,000 Insurance

Ossipee, N. H., Jan. 8.—Frederick L. Small, convicted last night of the murder of his third wife, was today sentenced by Judge Kivel to death by hanging on January 15, 1918.

Ossipee, N. H., Jan. 8.—A verdict of "Guilty with capital punishment" was returned last night against Frederick L. Small, former Boston broker, who was charged with the murder of his wife, Florence A. Small. The jury deliberated three hours. Small staggered for an instant as he heard the words of the foreman of the jury, but at once pulled himself together and maintained the composure which with few exceptions has marked his conduct from the moment he was arrested.

Turning to the newspaper men after the formalities of adjourning the court were observed, he said: "Gentlemen, I am innocent of this crime. I know no more about it than you do. I am awaiting the next move."

Under the laws of New Hampshire, the jury may find two verdicts of guilty in a capital case. One of guilty, which carries a sentence of life imprisonment, and the other guilty with capital punishment, which carries with it a sentence of death by hanging.

County Solicitor Walter D. Hill moved that sentence be imposed before adjournment, but Judge John Kivel reserved action until today. Court officials expressed some uncertainty as to whether the sentence would be pronounced until after an appeal is taken by Small's counsel on exceptions.

The murder of Mrs. Small on September 28, 1916, in the cottage at Mountainview, where the couple had lived for three years, was marked by features rare in the records of crime in New England. The woman had been beaten about the head, shot through the forehead and strangled by a cord before the house was destroyed by fire, but these evidences of the crime probably never would have been discovered had not the partly-burned body dropped into a pool of water in the basement.

Small had left the house to go to Boston seven hours before the flames were discovered, but the state contended that he had fixed up a clock work contrivance which had kindled the fire. He was arrested on a charge of murder when his wife's body was uncovered in the basement with the evidences of murder preserved. For a motive the state pointed out that Small would benefit from a $20,000 life insurance policy by his wife's death.

CHICAGO "CHIEF" ARRESTED

State's Attorney Says Police Department Head Is a Gaffer

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Charles Healy, chief of police of the city of Chicago, has been released on $100,000 bail following his arrest on the charge of accepting graft.

State's attorney Hoyne says that he has evidence that money from protected vice resorts has gone to Healy and that the chief has profited to the extent of $25,000 through crooked policemen.

come under the right conferred by Congress by the Webb-Kenyon act, it is decided that the West Virginia law was not in conflict with the commerce clause of the constitution and the power of Congress to regulate commerce. If Congress had power to enact the Webb-Kenyon law.

"3. Disposing of that question, it is decided that Congress had the power under the constitution to adopt the Webb-Kenyon law, whether considered from the point of view of original reasoning or in the light of the previous legislation by Congress and the decisions of the court holding that legislation valid. It is, therefore, decided that by virtue of the Webb-Kenyon law there is no power to ship intoxicants from one state into another in violation of the prohibitions of the laws of the state into which the liquor is shipped. In other words, it is decided that since the enactment of the Webb-Kenyon law the channels of interstate commerce may not be used to convey liquor into a state against the provisions of its laws or to use interstate commerce as a basis for a right to receive, possess, sell or in any manner use liquor contrary to the state prohibition."

LITTLE DEFINITE INFORMATION FROM LAWSON

Boston Broker Creates Uproar During "Leak" Investigation

REFUSED TO GIVE NAMES

Author of Frenzied Finance May Be Brought Before Bar of House For Contempt

Washington, Jan. 8.—Through a bewildering maze of intimations and heated colloquies which turned the hearing into an uproar, the House rules committee wrestled for several hours yesterday with Thomas W. Lawson of Boston without obtaining any definite information to substantiate the stories of a "leak" to Wall street in advance of the president's peace note. When the committee adjourned until today with Mr. Lawson's examination uncompleted, a motion to cite him before the bar of the House for contempt because he refused to give names had been considered in executive session and taken under advisement.

The committee's troubles with Mr. Lawson began soon after the financier took the stand, and grew into a noisy row, quieted only after Chairman Henry had threatened to clear the room of spectators and proceed in executive session. After declaring that he had evidence of a leak and asserting that he had information from a member of Congress that a cabinet official had been a beneficiary, Lawson flatly refused to give the names to the committee. He announced defiantly that he would give no names, regardless of consequences.

Before this the witness had flown into a passion when questioned by representative Chipfield about his book, "Frenzied Finance." There were heated exchanges during which the word "four flusher" could be heard above the general din which interrupted the record of the official stenographer. Lawson, shaking his hand in Representative Chipfield's face, asserted that he knew his rights and would not be bullied. He finally was pulled into a chair by the chief clerk of the House. The colloquy with Representative Chipfield, and some of Lawson's other remarks were expunged from the record.

H. 16, by Mr. Dunham of Brattleboro, an act relating to the declaration of intentions to marry. (Persons intending to be married in this state shall not less than five days before marriage cause notice in intention to be entered in town clerk's office in which they respectively reside, or if they do not reside in this state, in the office of the clerk of the town in which they intend to be married. Certificates to issue on or after the fifth date of entry. Persons solemnizing marriage before receiving marriage certificate, to be fined not more than $100.) To Judiciary Committee.

H. 17, by Mr. Holman of Royalton, an act providing a penalty for persons escaping from the Vt. state Hospital for the insane, when committed thereto under the provisions of No. 174 of the acts of 1915. (Persons committed to hospital at expense of state who absent themselves without leave, shall be sentenced to hard labor in the house of correction for not less than six nor more than ten months.) To Judiciary Committee.

H. 18, by Mr. Dunham of Brattleboro, an act relating to vehicles on wheels, carrying lights at night on public highways. (Provides that every vehicle on wheels shall have a light to be visible from front and rear, for the period from 45 minutes after sun set to 45 minutes before sun rise. Not to apply to hand propelled vehicles or vehicle designed for transportation of hay or straw as principal freight and while loaded with such freight. Highway commission may exempt vehicles for such period as he may elect.) To general committee.

H. 19, by Mr. Dana of New Haven, an act in addition to No. 159 of the acts of 1915, relating to co-operative fire insurance corporations. (Co-operative fire insurance corporations organized as county assessment corporation after insurance in force shall exceed two hundred thousand dollars may be authorized to do business throughout the state.) To committee on banking and insurance.

A large and enthusiastic audience attended the annual meeting of the First Baptist church Monday night. Every department of the church reported that good progress had been made during the past year. The treasurer's report showed an expenditure of $3,227.88 for current expenses. All obligations have been met except a bill of about $30.00. For benevolence there has been received and paid out $906.40. The church roll is undergoing revision. There is at present 335 members on the active roll and 162 on the reserve roll.

The following was elected to office: Clerk, A. S. Edson; treasurer, Dr. F. S. Pratt; deacon, A. Buel Sibley; superintendent of the Sunday school, J. R. Lovett; auditor, L. Cook. In the corporate meeting J. O. Burt and W. T. Barratt were elected to succeed themselves as trustees. Harry S. Moses was reappointed clerk.

Rev. J. Foster Wilcox of North Adams was the speaker of the evening and he gave a stirring address. He appealed for the type of Christianity in men and women that asserted itself in enthusiastic service. He had no use for the ancient order of secret discipleship. Everyone felt that it was a forceful and timely message.

After the address the parlor doors were thrown open and all went into the social rooms where the ladies served refreshments and a social evening was enjoyed.

The outlook for the present year is most encouraging. The spirit of fellowship is very evident. The finance committee reported the result of the every member canvass. This canvass shows that the church is now put on a most satisfactory business basis, as the budgets for current expenses and benevolences have been practically provided for.

ONE AND A QUARTER MILLIONS PAID IN DIVIDENDS

By Four Bennington Banks in Past Ten Years

ANNUAL BANK MEETINGS HELD

No Change in Administration and All Banks Prosperous—Savings Bank Deposits Are Now $3,268,985.20

The four banks in the town of Bennington have paid to depositors and stockholders over a million and a quarter dollars in interest and dividends during the past ten years. This is an average of over $125,000 yearly and gives some idea of the large amount of business transacted by the Bennington banks.

Of the total payment of dividends and interest the savings bank alone has paid to depositors in interest $757,660.26 in ten years and the deposits have now grown so that the annual payments are now over $100,000 per year which is more than three times what it was a few years ago.

The three national banks all have savings departments in which the deposits draw interest and the national banks all pay interest on their stock. While there are a few stockholders and depositors in the local banks who live at a distance the great bulk of the interest and dividends comes to residents of Bennington county.

The annual meetings of all the local banks have been held for this year and there is no change in the management. The North Bennington national bank elected as directors: F. B. Jennings, Hall Park McCullough, George B. Welling and R. A. Jones. F. B. Jennings is president. H. P. McCullough vice president and R. A. Jones cashier.

The First National bank of Bennington elected as directors: George F. Graves, L. P. Abbott, W. H. Bradford, William A. Root and L. A. Graves. George F. Graves is president. L. F. Abbott vice president. L. A. Graves cashier, and H. H. Webster assistant cashier.

The Bennington County National bank elected as directors: A. J. Holden, A. J. Cooper, I. E. Gibson, C. W. Thatcher, Guy B. Johnson, E. H. Holden and F. B. Carver. The officers are A. J. Holden president, A. J. Cooper vice president and Howard A. Wilson cashier.

The Bennington County savings bank corporators had one vacancy to fill and elected A. W. Braisted. The trustees elected are I. E. Gibson, J. R. Judson, John Robinson, E. D. Welling and F. D. Gardner. Harrison I. Norton and Fred S. Pratt. The officers are I. E. Gibson president, J. R. Judson vice president, C. H. Dewey treasurer, Richard F. Rawson assistant treasurer.

The total assets of the savings bank on January 1, 1917 were $3,268,985.20. This is an increase of nearly $300,000 during the past year. The deposits on Jan. 1 were $2,960,079.70.

YMCA DINNER WAS HELD WITH FAIR ATTENDANCE

Interesting Addresses Told of World Wide Activity

PAUL SUPER CHIEF SPEAKER

Byron N. Clark, State Secretary, and H. A. Wilkinson, Local Secretary, Described Work in Vermont

Monday evening seventy men, mostly members, made up of seniors, high school boys, employed boys, and directors, spent the evening at the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A., which is now in its twenty-eighth year.

An excellent dinner was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, consisting of fricassee chicken on biscuit, mashed potatoes, rolls, cranberry jelly, cabbage salad, apple pie, cheese and coffee. The dinner was prepared by a committee with Mrs. A. J. Holden as chairman, and Mrs. L. H. Ross, Miss Nellie Moore, Mrs. George Mills and Miss Brigid McGuire with the assistance of Mrs. Paulson. The repast was promptly served by the Misses Dorothy Patchin, Harriet Burt, Philomena Royce, Helen Thomas, Edna Waldron and Mildred Burnham.

Following the banquet came the usual annual business meeting. The treasurer reported all bills paid. There were four vacancies in the board and Earl Darling, A. W. Rickert, G. A. Parker and E. C. Whitaker were elected to fill these places.

The general secretary's report indicated progress in many respects. Over 200 members have joined in the past fifteen months. A fine camp having been acquired through the generosity of A. J. Holden. The physical department has taken a forward step under Mr. Mann, and for 150 boys who use the gymnasium twice a week from the graded and high school it is essentially a part of the school system, as they are marked on the gymnasium work as in their studies. A high school club was reported, small but strong and growing. The social program left nothing to be desired, with a monthly affair for both boys and girls having an average attendance of 150. An average daily attendance of 100 in the building was reported. The report did deplore, however, the lack of Christian leadership, and made a strong appeal for more interest in the direct character building work which is the whole reason for the association's existence.

It was reported that an architect had been in town and made drawings for a much needed enlargement to the gymnasium, providing for a swimming pool and an increase in the number of dormitory rooms.

While the diners were assembling Duane Bassett was at the piano in the lobby, and a cheery blaze in the fireplace together with the music were no small contribution to the pleasure of the evening. After the meal State Secretary Byron N. Clark spoke briefly of the State Work and the Older Boys' conference, which comes in Burlington the last of this week.

Paul Super, of the International committee, followed Mr. Clark. Mr. Super was a successful secretary at Honolulu, and is one of the leading men in the Y. M. C. A. movement. Mr. Super spoke in a very interesting manner on the work the Y. M. C. A. is doing throughout the world, illustrating its size and far-reaching influence by a number of apt examples of its work. He made a wonderful appeal to the men present to help in the great work and had a most inspiring message.

Mr. Super is spending the day in Bennington, and spoke this morning at the High School assembly. This afternoon he will meet with the High school boys. During the day he will confer with members in the interests of the local association.
